

51ST ANNIVERSARY —OF— NEGRO FREEDOM

By The Lincoln Memorial Association

to be held in Graded School Auditorium,
Manning, S. C., January 1st, 1914.

This will be one of the greatest Celebrations ever held in Clarendon County. Let the leaders of the race bring 3,000 people, 100 Vehicles, and 200 Mules, Horses and Oxen together for the great street parade.

Let every respectable colored man join hand and heart and begin now to work for a greater celebration on Negro Day. We call for co-operation and a oneness that only comes through a Democratic spirit, and the will of the people A great day for Clarendon's best Negroes.

Music! Refreshment! Enjoyment!

There will be Piano, Brass Band and Vocal Music to cheer the great throng of people who will be here from every section of the county. Refreshments of every variety served on Cafe style. A comfortable place with red hot fires. Merriment and pleasure, plentiful.

A Literary Entertainment.

The program is made up of talented Speakers. Dr. J. P. Golden, of Pennsylvania, Clarendon's new doctor, is orator of the day. Twenty five of the leading ministers will be in Council here on that day.

NAMING A TOWN.

Concord Was Selected After Fifty Years of Controversy.

The name of Concord, N. H., was given to the town after a controversy which lasted fifty years. In 1725 the land now within its bounds was granted to the colonists under the name of Peacock by the colony of Massachusetts. This claim was disputed by the colony of New Hampshire, which two years later granted this same land to the township of Bow. 1733 Massachusetts incorporated Peacock into a township named Rumford, and for more than forty years a fierce legal controversy was carried on. No agreement could be reached, and the matter was taken to the authorities in England, but even then there was no satisfactory nor permanent settlement. In the face of an evident leaning toward the claims of Bow, both in England and in America, the little band of colonists in Rumford fought on valiantly, and in 1765 an act of incorporation was granted to the inhabitants of Rumford. This was still highly unsatisfactory because it only made them a parish in the town of Bow.

The controversy continued until 1774, when it was finally settled and an independent town was formed under the name of Concord. It was due to the devotion of the little band of settlers to their cause and the unity which existed among them that the independent incorporation of the town was finally obtained, and it was eminently fitting that the concord which existed between them during the struggle of nearly fifty years should be memorialized in their town's name.—Ladies' Home Journal.

DODGED THE WASPS.

Simple Trick by Which the Woodsmen Escaped a Stinging.

A man on his first trip into the wilds and marshes of an unknown country with the United States drainage engineers was struck by a unique method they have to escape from the attack of wasps and hornets. The country traversed is generally covered with thick undergrowth, and a path has to be cut through this all along the line. So when a big wasp nest is reached there is very little warning, sometimes the axmen cutting into a big one with their machetes.

The person relating this experience was some sixty feet behind the axmen with the instrument when all at once the two axmen dropped in their tracks as if they had been struck by a thunderbolt. The man behind and the two chaimen did likewise. While they were lying prone on the grass and wet mud they heard what sounded like bullets zinging over their heads. One after the other they came with angry zips. When things had quieted down a bit work was continued, and the new man found that to escape from wasps or hornets the thing to do was to drop instantly. The insects seem to be so mad that they fly in straight lines along a level and do not have time to hunt around for you.

It is said that hornets are not so prone to follow this rule as wasps, but the wasps never vary. Men have been stung to death by hornets, and horses and mules likewise.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Record in Fletcherizing.

If they learn the art of chewing even people whose food expense is only threepence a day can make their meals last a long time. A chewer, according to dietetic experts, is one who chews all things as long as they have any taste left in them. Gladstone, we are told, used to take thirty-two bites to every mouthful of food. The modern school of chewers would regard this as dangerously rapid eating. "I have tried chewing conscientiously," writes Mr. Eustace Miles. "A banana has cost 800 bites, a small mouthful of bread and cheese 240 bites, a greedy mouthful of biscuit (while I was walking on a Yorkshire moor) over 1,000 bites. It still seemed to taste about as much as at first, but I knew that taste by then, so I swallowed."—London Chronicle.

Comforting.

"Mr. Chairman," said the orator, who had already occupied the platform for twenty minutes, and many interjections from the audience. "Mr. Chairman, may I appeal on a point of order? There is really so much desultory conversation going on in parts of the hall that it is impossible for me to hear a word I am saying." Voice from the back of the hall—Don't be downhearted. You're not missing much.—New York Globe.

Where the Trouble Came.

"Well, how did you get on at your first appearance?" asked a man of an ambitious friend who had just joined the theatrical profession. "Oh, I got on well enough," was the reply, "but I couldn't get off half quick enough."—London Mail.

Tip For a College Graduate.

"My son has just graduated from college. What would you advise him to read?" "The help wanted column."—New York Times.

Alike.

"My dear, having your father to live with us won't work." "But neither will father."—Baltimore American.

The happiness of life consists in something to do, something to love and something to hope for.—Dr. Chalmers.

German Newspaper Readers.

Pupils in a German school were recently tested as to their reading of newspapers. In the highest elementary class of 44, 25 read a newspaper every day; 15 at least once a week and four less frequently.

Daily Healthgram.

A cup of hot milk, sipped slowly just before retiring, often induces sleep. A brisk walk, half an hour or so before retiring, is another sleep producer. A moderate, comfortable bed, plenty of air and light, but sufficiently warm bedding, are other first aids to proper sleep.

Derivation of Surnames.

Surnames are not what they seem. For instance, Lind is derived from a Teutonic word meaning a "snake." The apparently quiet and harmless surname Wren comes from a word which denotes "rapine." Fish, though such an innocent name in appearance, originally meant "impetuous."

The Best Salve In The World.

Rheumatism Sprains Backache Headache

"Yes, daughter, that's the pain in my back is all gone—never see an aching again so quickly as Sloan's Liniment." "How do you get grateful people vote the same opinion. Here's the proof."

Relieved Pain in Back. "I was troubled with a very bad pain in my back for some time. I went to a doctor and he gave me a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, and now I am well again. I know how good Sloan's Liniment is, and I shall always take time to recommend Dr. Sloan's Liniment."—Mrs. Chas. Rowe, Baltimore, Md.

Serious Rheumatism. "We have used Sloan's Liniment for over six years and found it the best we ever used. When my wife had serious rheumatism the only thing that did her any good was Sloan's Liniment. We cannot praise it highly enough."—Mr. Ferris, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sprained Ankle Relieved. "I was ill for a long time with a severely sprained ankle. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and now I am able to be about and can walk a great deal. I write this because I think you deserve a lot of credit for putting such a fine Liniment on the market and I shall always take time to recommend Dr. Sloan's Liniment."—Mrs. Chas. Rowe, Baltimore, Md.

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

At all Dealers—25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sloan's instructive book on horses, cattle, hogs and poultry sent free.

Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Inc. Boston, Mass.

Ancient Remedy. Nicholas Culpepper, Gentleman Student in Physik and Astrology, writing in 1695, commends as an interesting and valuable remedy, "the skull of a man that has never been buried, beaten to a powder and given inwardly, the quantity of a dram at a time in Betony water." Its particular efficacy was to be expected in palsy and falling sickness.

Mrs. Twickembury. "I've always admired that character, Rupert of Hentzau," remarked Mrs. Twickembury, "he had such a debonair."—Christian Register.

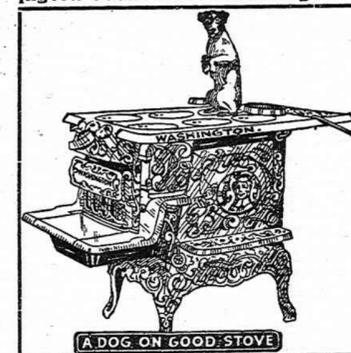

Dice Played in Greece. Dice are said by some to have had their origin in occult sources, but more reasonably they are ascribed to Pelemedes of Greece, B. C. 1244. Those exhumed at Thebes are identical with those used today, and the games played with them are the simplest and most widely known games of chance in the world.

Cultivate Voice With the Smile. "The voice wins the smile wins." Thus runs a sign in a telephone exchange where many persons work. Its usefulness is not confined to telephone operators.—Youth's Companion.

Numerous Kinds of Fairies. How many kinds of fairy were there? A good many. For an elf differs from a troll, who must not be confounded with a pixy. Then in addition there was the kelpie, the gnome, the brownie, the kobold, the nis and the urisk (a hairy Scotch spirit).

Very Close-Mouthed. Caller—"So your sister and her fiance are very close-mouthed over their engagement?" Little Ethel—"Close-mouthed? You ought to see them together when they think no one else is around."

Really Mortifying. "What was the most mortifying thing that ever happened to you?" "Having my brother come to visit on us in a New Hampshire hotel when my husband and I were on our honeymoon."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Daily Thought. Belief consists in accepting the affirmations of the soul; unbelief in denying them.—Emerson.

Pessimist's Version. All's well if it ends well, but the chances are that it won't.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Had Proved It. "Daughter," called the father from his position at the top of the stairs, at the well-known hour of 11:55 p. m., "doesn't that young man know how to say good-night?" "Does he?" echoed the young lady in the darkened hall; "well, I should say he does."

His Recipe. "My hair is falling out," admitted the timid man in a drug store. "Can you recommend something to keep it in?" "Certainly," replied the obliging clerk. "Get a box."

How Music Affected Animals. An orchestral concert was given before the elephants in Le Jardin des Plantes, Paris. The animals became excited and impatient when the monotone music was played, but calm when a sustained, melodious and flowing style was adopted.
